

Make the connection!

Connecting in North Carolina is a one day tour that takes you on a trip into a regional NC community.

Attend and you will:

- Better understand your students' hometown roots and the economic, ethnic, cultural as well as geographical diversity across the state.
- See first-hand NC State University teaching, research and extension at work.
- Gain an appreciation for what the land grant tradition means to the people of North Carolina.
- Build relationships with our state's schools, businesses, industries, and communities.

Eligibility

NC State University faculty and EPA professionals who have been with the University for less than seven years. Each college/school is encouraged to submit three names to their Dean or Department Head.

Application Process

Each Dean and Department Head will have application forms and additional information by early January.
